$50,000,000 a Day Cost of General European War

Dr. Jordan Tells of the Expense and Horrors of the Expected Conflict—Sum Would Be Greatly Increased With Sure Rise of Prices

David Starr Jordan, President Leland Stanford University.

THE menace of a general European war lends particular interest to what Dr. David Starr Jordan, America's distinguished peace advocate, said in his recent book, "War and Waste."

"What shall we say of the Great War of Europe, ever threatening, ever impending and which never comes? We can't say that it will never come. Humanly speaking, it is impossible. Not in the physical sense, of course, for with weak, reckless and godless men nothing evil is impossible. It may be, of course, that some half-crazed archduke or some harassed minister of state shall half knowingly give the signal for Europe's conflagration. In fact, the armed signal has been given more than once within the last few months. The tinder is well dried and laid in such a way as to make the worst of this catastrophe."

"Behind the sturdy forms of the Bulgarian farmers lurks the sinister figure of Russian intrigue. Russia and Austria, careless of their neighbors, careless of obligations, find in this their opportunity. And the nations of Europe in their degree are bound to one or the other of these malcontents. Neither Russia nor Austria can be trusted to keep the peace even in her interest, for both, through debt, through and discontent at home, are in a condition of perpetual crisis."

The armed forces of Europe in the event of a general war are thus tabulated by Prof. Charles Richet of the University of Paris:

	Men.
Austria	2,500,000
England	1,500,000
France	3,400,000
Germany	3,600,000
Italy	2,800,000
Russia	3,000,000
Spain	7,000,000
Total	21,200,000

If these nations—supposed to be diplomatically concerned in the question of whether the obscure Albanian port of Durazzo should fall to Serbia or to Austria, neither of the two having the slight claim to it—should rush into war, the expense would run at $50,000,000 a day, a sum to be greatly increased with the sure rise of prices.
The index of Richet (there translated from francs to dollars) deserves most careful attention:

1. Food of men	$12,000,000
2. Food of horses	1,000,000
3. Pay (European rates)	4,250,000
4. Pay of workmen in munitions	1,000,000
5. Ammunition (100 a day)	1,000,000
6. Transportation (100 miles)	2,100,000
7. Transportation of provisions	4,200,000
8. Munitions—Infantry, ten	4,200,000
9. Munitions—Artillery, ten	1,200,000
10. Munitions—Aircraft, ten	400,000
11. Pay of men (10 a day)	4,200,000
12. Ammunition, 500,000 rounds	500,000
13. Ammunition, 100,000 rounds	500,000
14. Reduction of imports	5,000,000
15. Help to the poor (20 cents	6,500,000
16. Destruction of towns, etc.	2,000,000
Total per day	$49,950,000

"To all this," says Dr. Jordan, "we may add the horrors of the air, the cost of aeroplanes and of burning cities which this monstrous abomination of murder may render inhumanly possible.

The nation which uses instruments like these against a sister nation can boast no advance over the red Indian and his scalping knife."

BEAR LAW DRAWN TOO FINE.

"If Squire Ike Stratton don't quit drawin' his pints of law so exceedin' fine," said Bill Sanders, the homer from Shinnepoke way, "he'll run agin' a snag when he puts himself in the hands of his friends fer to be elected agin, for his friends 'll jest raise their hands an' turn him down."
"We was 'spectin' to have a time
most ez good ez a circus soon ez Jim Bailey had Hank Parsons took up fer killin' his tams b'ar, an' yanked him fore the Squire to answer. We was all settin' at Joe Blinn's grocery store, waitin' fer the Squire, Jim Bailey bein'
there ready fer to ast him fer a warrant fer Hank. The Squire come in pooty soon, an' Jim says to him that he wanted the warrant."

"What's yer grounds fer perceadin'?"
says Squire Ike, bittin' a hunk offen
his plug.

"The grounds is," says Jim, "that Hank Parsons shot my tame b'ar dead,
an' says he'll be durned if he'll pay fer
it. Them's the grounds fer perceadin'," says Jim.

"Squire Ike he sot a spell, chawin'
like a sheep, an' then he says to Jim:
'Whar'd ye git the b'ar?'"

"Ketched it when it was a cub," says
Jim.

"Suckin' cub?" says the Squire.

"Huh, huh," says Jim. "Suckin' cub."

"It's mammy to home when you ketchin' it," says the Squire.

"No, she wa'n't," says Jim.

"Did you lug it away from its home
by force of arms an' malice aforethought?" says the Squire.

"If ye mean," says Jim, "did I lug it home ez quick ez I could scoot so ez
the ol' she b'ar wouldn't ketch up about me an' take it back agin, that's about what I done, Squire," says Jim.

"Squire Ike he cud an' chawed awhile,
an' shufflin' his cud to t' other cheek,
by an' by he says to Jim:

"An' ye want a warrant fer Hank Morgan, do ye?" says he.

"Jes' what I do, by hokey!" says
Jim.

"Squire Ike, he chawed awhile more,
an' then he says:

"Well, I kin give ye a warrant, Jim,
but ye better go a little slow," says he.

"Hank is liable to turn 'round an' ast fer a warrant fer you, too, an' I'll hef
to give it to him."

"Warrant fer me!" says Jim, no more s'prised an' took back than we all was.

"A warrant, what fer, I'd like to know?"
says he.

"Kidnappin'," says the Squire. "You kidnaped a b'ar on yer own showin', James, an' the law is dead sot agin' kidnappers," says he, specially when thuz malice aforethought with 'em.

An' your'n is a specially aggravinatin'
case," says he, "fer you was access'ry both afore an' arter the fact. I kin give ye a warrant fer Hank if ye want it, Jim," says the Squire, "but you better go a little slow," says he.

"Him a drawin' his pints of law so exceedin' fine shunted the case round
so alarmin' that Jim took Squire Ike's advice an' went along so that Hank Parsons wa'n't yanked afore the Squire,
an' Shinnepoke never see a disappointted outgoin' o' feller citizens than went home from Joe Blinn's grocery store that day. An' Squire Ike Stratton
'll hear from it in thunder tones, by Jeezaw, when he puts himself in the hands of his friends agin, mind what I tell ye, if he don't quit drawin'
his pints of law so exceedin' fine!"

AT MOOSE HEAD LAKE, ME.

KINEO, Moosehead Lake, Me., Aug. 1.— Golf matches, power boat racing and dancing have surpassed all other interests here and the large influx of new arrivals has made this the liveliest week of the summer. Each evening the Mount Kineo is gay with the younger set who dance,
while the the dancin' at the Moosehead Lake Yacht Club has given an attractive feature to the summer life.

To George E. Marcus of New York belongs the honor of breaking the amateur 18 hole record for the Kineo links, a seventy-five made in a medal play competition. A crowd watched the hardest struggle ever seen in match play on these Northern links. In a handicap match, thirty contesting, Robert Nye of Springfield, Mass., and Col. L. W. Stotesbury of New York were all even in the finals. They remained tied in the next three rounds, it taking seventy-two holes to decide the battle,
Mr. Nye eventually winning.

Following a power boat race for suicides, which excited a crowd of spectators on Kineo Point, the weekly race of the Yacht Club thrilled the spectators. The Tallulah, belonging to C. A. Conklin of Atlanta, won at the finish by seven seconds, Commodore
B. Waring's Toneta just nosing out Charles
M. Clark's Kin-nah-beh fer second place both being close in the wake of the winner Joseph L. Murphy, a well-known actor who played Kerry Gow for thirty-three years,
and his wife are at the Mount Kineo. Mrs.
Murphy delighted a large audience Friday evening with her readings.

Mrs. E. H. Outerbridge, prominent in New York society, who has been critically ill at Greenville, is recovering, and has returned to the Outerbridge camp Ethelwynn on Kineo Bay.

W. E. Frew, with his wife and daughter, are enjoying the delights of Kineo for the first time.

Recent arrivals at the Mount Kineo include Robert E. Jennings and family, Thomas Jewell Hallowell and family, Mr. and Mrs.
Jonathan A. Holmes, Mrs. Robert A. Osborne, Miss Elizabeth Osborne, Mrs. H. J.
Lamar Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feuchtwanger, Paul Feuchtwanger, Miss
Margery Sillocks, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L.
Simpson, Mrs. Rufus B. Moore and daughter, Ralph Peters, Jr., Miss T. C. Marshall,
F. A. Gott and family of New York, Miss Esther Jones, Miss C. J. McKee, Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Siegert, Brooklyn, Dr. S. McCuen
Smith and family, the Rev. W. R. Turner,
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chapin Dearborn, Mr.
and Mrs. W. H. Arrott, Philadelphia.

Just a Word With You.

Everybody and every store is talking Furniture this morning.

THIS IS THE TIME FOR COMPARING.

Each store is probably claiming superiority, "BESTNESS," in some form.

The dependable stores, of course, believe what they say.

That makes comparison the more interesting. We court it. We delight in comparison. This is an extraordinary opportunity to TEST, to see for yourself just what is meant in all stores by "VALUE AND QUALITY" and "UNDER-PRICING."

It is just about 17 minutes from Grand Central Depot by Brooklyn express to the A. & S. private station at Hoyt Street, Brooklyn, and 10 minutes from Dey Street Terminal of Hudson Tubes.

Much more convenient to get here from Manhattan than to most of the Manhattan stores. It will pay you to come.

We desire to SHOW YOU. And we won't coax you to buy. We prefer to have you want what you get as well as to get what you want. There is a distinction.

You can order now and have it delivered in the Fall.

See the goods. Study the design, wood, workmanship, upholstery, finish and the ACTUAL price—and then compare with the same goods and price here. It will be interesting, instructive, and, we believe, most profitable.

"VALUE," "WORTH," "SAVING," "REDUCTION" and similar words in advertisements are presumed to be based on regular prices or prices under ordinary everyday conditions.

Our REGULAR prices are almost invariably below those of other stores, so that others might be sincere in claiming 10% to 20% under regular prices and still be considerably higher priced than this store.

An exception, of course, would be a patented article, where price may be restricted by contract—such as patented Bookcases in this Furniture Sale.

There can be no better than BEST, and this Store has the BEST Furniture from the leading factories of the world. Other stores may have just as good.

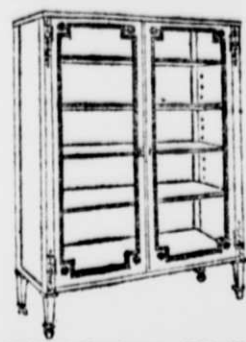

But we have preferred to sell to many at a moderate price rather than to a comparatively few at a high price. We never sacrificed quality for a low price—but neither do we use quality as an excuse for a high price.

And that is why it means so much more in this Store than in others when we say that we offer thousands of dollars worth of splendid Furniture

At 20% to 50% Saving on Regular Prices.

ACRES OF FURNITURE INVITE YOUR INSPECTION. See and compare for yourself. It will pay you.

We are very glad to quote prices on all and every occasion in our advertisement, but PLEASE COMPARE THE GOODS.
